West Jordan Western Stampede Rodeo Royalty Pageant Rules and Regulations

Age requirements: Each contestant for the Queen must be at least 15 years of age and not more than 24 years. The age of the contestant shall be determined as of May 12, 2012.

Personal standards: Contestants must portray the highest moral standards and set an example. If, in the opinion of the pageant committee, a contestant is not conducting herself in a proper manner during or following the competition, she will be disqualified and her title taken away. Each member of the royalty will be expected to represent the Western Stampede rodeo and the celebration to the best of her ability and will be a representative of the rodeo for the general public. Contestants should portray excellent sportsmanship, high moral and ethical character, and should reflect careful humane treatment of animals. Personal friends and boyfriends are asked to stay apart during functions of the royalty until banner is off. Contestants should speak intelligently with dignity and sincere interest in rodeo and West Jordan's Western Stampede celebration. The royalty of West Jordan Western Stampede (Queen, 1st & 2nd Attendants) agree not to marry or become pregnant during the year of reigning. If anyone should marry or for any reason is not able to fulfill their obligation for the Stampede, their title could be removed and passed on to the next runner-up. There will not be any use of drugs or alcohol during the year of reign. That includes in any activity done with the royalty or without the royalty. If any of these situations have been presented to the board, you will be allowed a hearing with the Stampede board and/or City of West Jordan.

Ownership of prizes: Upon forfeiture of title (through marriage, pregnancy, resignation or other disqualification) the contestant shall surrender all prizes, including but not limited to tiara, banner, belt buckle and any other awards received to the next runner up. In this regard, title to all prizes, awarded and other items given to the contestant remains in the name of the pageant committee during the reigning year. Title to such awards shall not vest in the contestant unless and until that contestant has successfully completed the one year reign.

Participation in other contests: Contestants must receive permission from the Western Stampede Committee before entering any other rodeo queen pageant during the reign.

Mandatory appearances: The royalty will appear mounted each night of the Western Stampede events and must be available for television, radio, service clubs and rodeo appearances. The royalty must appear in various parades to advertise and promote the Western Stampede events and Independence Day Festival. Your reign will last from May 2012 to May 2013. Two excused absences from required appearances are allowed. Upon the occurrence of the third absence the reigning person shall be deemed to have forfeited her title, and all gifts and awards. This is a full year commitment, which may require appearances during the year.

One horse: Contestants may ride only one horse throughout the competition and the year of reign. The horsemanship horse will also be your parade horse. If the horse becomes lame or injured, a veterinarian's certificate documenting lameness or injury will be required before the contestant may ride a substitute horse.

Application: The deadline for applications is 5 p.m. April 23, 2012.

The Miss Rodeo Utah's rules, not in conflict with the foregoing regulations, are hereby adopted as though set forth in their entirety.

After pre-orientation at the arena, the contestants will have no contact with parents, trainers and family members.

From 1 p.m. until completion of ride, contestants will be responsible for their horses and their own well-being. Judging will take place at all times from 8 a.m. until the crowning of the new rodeo queen.

You must be a resident of the State of Utah.

The queen and her attendants will be expected to work as a royalty team.
